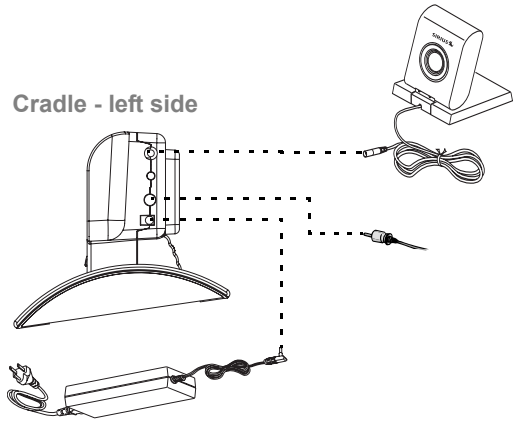
2. Installation cautions

- Don’t connect the power adapter cable to a wall outlet until you’ve made and verified all other connections. Connect the power adapter cable last.
- Do not install the receiver where it will receive direct sunlight or be subject to extreme temperatures.
- Incorrect installation may cause damage to the system.
- When placing the antenna, see the antenna aiming procedure in the Plug And Play Receiver User’s Guide.

3. Connections



Overview of the connections

4. Position the antenna

For best reception, place the antenna near a window. Initially, you may need to position the antenna several times to find the optimum location.

- In a major city, where SIRIUS ground repeaters are present, you can place the antenna away from a window and still get good reception.
- You may place the antenna outside on your roof, provided no overhead obstructions block the antenna's line-of-sight to the satellite.

Because the SIRIUS satellites orbit the earth, the strength of the signal may change over time. In most cases, the signal should be continuously available. If you experience a loss of signal or audio problems, reposition the antenna, moving it outside if necessary.

5. Install the receiver

1. Using the guides, place the Plug and Play receiver in the cradle so that the receiver connectors are lined up.

2. Gently slide the Plug and Play receiver into the cradle.
3. Press on the top of the receiver to engage the connectors.

   The clip automatically engages.

6. Removing the receiver

Push the Release button and slide the Plug and Play receiver upwards.

7. Mount the antenna

Place the antenna on a relatively flat surface.

Determine the best position

1. Plug the antenna into the connector on the side of the cradle.
2. Place the antenna at the preferred location inside or outside your home.
3. Press the power button to turn the Plug and Play receiver's power on.
4. Check the signal strength indicator in the bottom left corner of the display.

   If necessary, move the antenna to different positions until the signal comes loud and clear.
5. If mounting the antenna outside, fix it in the best position. Indoors, the antenna can be free-standing.
6. Turn the Plug and Play receiver off.

Route the cable

If the antenna is in the same room as your stereo system, you may simply need to clip the antenna cable to the window frame, baseboard etc. Coil any surplus cable neatly and fasten with a cable tie.

If the antenna is outside or in another part of the building:

1. Plan the routing of the antenna cable to the Plug and Play receiver RF input.

   Avoid any obstructions that could crimp, kink or twist the cable.

2. Route the cable from the antenna position to the cradle, bringing it through the basement, under a window sill, etc.

   Use protective grommets wherever you encounter rough openings. Make adjustments and take up slack whenever necessary.

8. Connect to the stereo

1. Plug the supplied audio cable into the side of the cradle and into your stereo system.
2. Plug the power cable into a 110-volt wall receptacle.

   The power LED on the power button glows red.

You're ready to enjoy SIRIUS programming.
